Honoring the Tugs

By Marilou Newell

Paul Ciaburri is a well-known Rochester resident, not only as a member of the community, but also as a Select Board member. Less well-known is his love for all things maritime, especially those items and subjects related to the use of tugboats during times of conflict – war.

We received word that something worth sharing with a wider audience was taking place at Ciaburri's home. When we arrived we were awe struck by what we saw. A massive, 3,000-pound tugboat propeller with a 40-foot towering gleaming white flagpole had been erected.

Digging a bit deeper, we learned that tugboats, those work horses of industry and commerce, are very near and dear to Ciaburri's heart. Now retired from Moran Towing, a tugboat company that has been navigating the eastern seaboard assisting in the moving of goods (and military personnel and materials) since 1860, he now had time to pursue a dream of building a memorial to honor tugboat history and all who worked the boats. His deep appreciation for the work carried out by tugboats is now front and center in his own yard.

As can be imagined, it took a team of friends and various trades to pull off such a mammoth task.

There were big rigs borrowed for moving the propeller to his property, a welder to permanently fuse the propeller to its shaft, and metal workers to manufacture flagpole parts and assemble them.

And yet we hadn't reached the historical core of the story until Ciaburri spoke of his admiration for Edmond J. Moran, long time President of Moran Towing.

Moran was a Rear Admiral in the Navy and played a pivotal role in troop movement and strategic planning for the D-Day Invasion at Normandy. His obituary in the Chicago Tribune noted that he had served in both world wars and operated the family business for some 69 years.

The obituary reads, "His most notable contribution in WWII was in supervising a fleet of 160 British, United States, Norwegian, and Dutch tugboats in a strategy that outwitted the Germans who were expecting the Allied invasion to come at an existing port. Instead, the Allies towed railroad car barges across the Atlantic and assembled large concrete docks. The tugboats towed the barges and docks to the enemy-held beaches creating an instant port for the landing of ammunition, weapons, fuel, food, and other supplies. Moran later developed a similar plan for invading Japan."

Moran would go on to rescue Allied ships and served as Deputy Director of the War Shipping Administration as well as other senior postings.

Moran was a highly decorated veteran receiving the U.S. Legion of Merit, the Victory and Navy Commendation Medals, the European Campaign Medal, Ciaburri said quietly and sincerely of Moran, "He was a great man."

We think that in spite of his numerous medals and acknowledgements of his courage and capabilities, the Admiral would look upon Ciaburri's monument with pride and appreciation. And the flag currently flying over the Ciaburri property once graced the coffin of his father-in-law Kenneth Baird, a WWII veteran.

Waiting Until Next Year

Thoughts on...

By Dick Morgado

The Red Sox collapsed on the diamond. Wait until next year.

The Patriots don't look so hot. Wait until next year.

I missed Halloween! How did I miss it. I guess I'll have to wait until next year.

How did I miss Halloween? It just came and went, disappeared like a ghost in the night. I guess I have been so engrossed in current events or wondering when we will change the clocks back (missed that too), or if I'll get to see the Northern Lights someday (missed that too). I just completely forgot about the holiday. How is that even possible? Maybe it skipped my mind because it is not even an official holiday.

Surely there were giant skeletons in people's front lawns. I didn't notice a single one. How could I have not noticed the jack-o-lanterns on neighbors' front steps? I did!

No kids came to the door to trick-or-treat, probably because we live on a dark, isolated street. They must all have been marching in the town's annual Halloween parade. My dad used to bang the big base drum to lead the parade when I was a kid. How on Earth could I not remember Halloween was in October?

The only time I recall wearing a costume was in 1957 during the town's centennial parade. Dad and I dressed as hobo-clowns tossing lollypops to kids from the back of a Model T Ford truck. Oh well. I guess I'll just have to wait until next year to don my ghost sheet with the holes poked in it for eyes, ask my bride to wear her witch hat, and play spooky music.

Truth be told, I have never been a big fan of Halloween. When we moved into our first house, we bought a couple of small bags of candy expecting to get 15 or 20 kids. Boy were we surprised! We got over 300 little gremlins knocking at our door. Ghosts and goblins, monsters, superheroes, and high school kids with no costumes at all. Parents drove their kids into our neighborhood from other nearby towns. Of course, we ran out of candy. I think we gave out grapes or Ritz crackers or something. I forget.

When our kids came along, we went all out. The missus made beautiful, elaborate costumes: Robin Hood, Snow White, a pirate, a princess. Once, our neighbor threw a costume party on Halloween. I went as Annette Funicello, the Mouseketeer. That was a scary sight!

When I was a high school teacher, all the faculty including the administrators would dress up in costume. One year I was a demented doctor; electric wig, white coat, stethoscope and all, marching around the halls with our classroom skeleton shouting "make way, a former student passing through." Another year, I was a British judge with a powdered wig and black robe. The principal thought I was a graduating student. (He was Kermit the Frog. Think about that for a minute). One colleague even came to school dressed as me. That was spooky!

Just like the Red Sox and Patriots, I guess I'll have to wait until next year.

Hope I don't miss Christmas.

Lonely? You are not Alone!

What Does The Doctor Say?

By Dr. Edward Hoffer

Last year, the U.S. Surgeon General declared loneliness a major public health problem. While it was made worse by the pandemic, both before and after the pandemic loneliness was common and troublesome to many.

A survey from Harvard's School of Education found that 21% of U.S. adults described loneliness as a major problem; surprisingly, the age group that expressed the greatest problem (29%) were those 30-44, and adults over 65 had the lowest (10%) reported frequency.

If you have children or grandchildren, remember that they can also suffer profoundly from loneliness.

You do not have to be socially isolated to feel lonely; those with intact families and/or with many co-workers can feel lonely. Loneliness is a disconnection from others, even when they surround you. If you feel lonely in such a setting, you blame yourself though you should not.

Our ubiquitous technology, which is supposed to help, often worsens the problem. Dealing with others through social media rather than in person does not create deep bonds.

Those who spend too much time at work may end up spending less time with family and friends with resulting feelings of loneliness.

Loneliness has been found to correlate strongly with both poor mental and physical health. We are social animals and do better in all spheres when we feel connected to others.

If you feel lonely, there are many ways to lessen this feeling.

Reach out to friends and family. Maintaining friendship requires work but need not be burdensome. A quick email with some news or a birthday or holiday card with some personal lines added takes little time and strengthens bonds. Pick up the phone!

Volunteer. Helping others gives you a sense of community connection and may lead to new friendships with those alongside whom you are working.

Join groups with whom you share interests. Alongside fellow photographers, quilters, singers, or stamp collectors you will create new bonds.

There are many groups at churches, Councils on Aging, and community centers where you can meet new friends.

Adopt a pet if you can deal with the time demands. The unconditional love of a dog is its own reward, and walking your dog is a great way to meet new people.

Limit your use of social media. Taking longer breaks from Facebook and the like and interacting in the flesh will usually make you feel better.

Have a single older friend or neighbor? Call them! Finally, remember that feeling lonely is not “Blue Wall” State Votes Blue. In Other News...

By Sam Bishop

On Tuesday, November 5 at 8:00 pm, ballot boxes across Massachusetts were sealed and polling places were closed. At that same time, the Associated Press called MA and its 11 electors for Kamala Harris. “AP only makes such a call if results from AP VoteCast at poll close show a candidate leading by at least 15 percentage points” per apnews.com. Though the victory was called, ballot counting went long into the following day.

Other than the presidential race, there were the races of the House of Representatives and the Senate. Elizabeth Warren maintains her seat in the Senate; one she has held since 2013. In our US House District 9 (MA-9), Bill Keating also held his seat against Dan Sullivan. Across the board, to the surprise of few, the Democratic Party maintains its supremacy over Massachusetts federal politics.

At time of writing, the results of the various state-wide questions, the multiple “yes” or “no” questions at the end of the ballot, were yet to be announced.

Regardless of who is declared victor or who declares victory, your friends remain your friends, your family remain your family, and your neighbors remain your neighbors. The President also remains president. At least, until January 20 of next year when the President-Elect is sworn into office.

To all of those who did not make it to a polling station this time, please consider applying for a mail-in ballot next election. Voter apathy is the plight to democratic governance!

Dark Sky

By Lynne Markinac

Are you seeing fewer stars, starry nights, shooting stars, meteor showers, or satellites? In the August 10 issue of the Boston Globe, it was reported that we are coming to the end of our "starry nights" due to light pollution and the recent failure of the Massachusetts Legislature to pass a bill that would regulate light pollution; the only New England state that has not taken that step.

What is light pollution? Human made alteration of outdoor light levels from those occurring naturally. This disrupts wildlife migration, human health, wastes money and energy, contributes to climate change, and blocks our view of the universe according to DarkSky International. Too often our outdoor lighting installations are exceedingly bright, left on when not needed, and are harmful to the environment and humans. The ecological effects of artificial light have been well documented. DarkSky estimates that at least 30% of all outdoor lighting in the U.S alone is wasted, mostly by lights that aren't shielded. That adds up to $3.3 million and the release of 21 million tons of carbon dioxide per year, contributing to global warming.

It has been shown to affect both flora and fauna.

For instance, prolonged exposure to artificial light prevents many trees from adjusting to seasonal variations, according to Winslow Briggs's chapter on plant responses in the 2006 book Ecological Consequences of Artificial Night Lighting. This, in turn, has implications for the wildlife that depend on trees for their natural habitat. Research on insects, turtles, birds, fish, reptiles, and other wildlife species shows that light pollution can alter behaviors, foraging areas, and breeding cycles. In humans, it can disrupt sleep patterns by impacting melatonin secretion, which can increase the risk of health issues like obesity, depression, and high blood pressure. Bright light can also strain the eyes, causing headaches and migraines. Light pollution along with other environmental factors can contribute to cataracts.

The article in the Boston Globe reminded me of my retirement trip to five National Parks in 2019, two of which provided education regarding our night sky. Rangers led us to places that had very little to no artificial light and the night skies were magnificent with the view of the galaxy. We are losing those views due to light pollution. I had never heard of this issue before that trip.

What can be done? Light pollution affects every citizen. Fortunately, awareness and concern about light pollution is rising dramatically. A growing number of scientists, homeowners, environmental groups and civic leaders are taking action to restore the natural night sky. The good news is that light pollution is reversible and each one of us can make a difference. Just being aware that light pollution is a problem is not enough. We need to take action.

The first thing to do is assess your own outdoor home lighting. You may be unknowingly contributing to light pollution and the disruption of wildlife while wasting energy and costing money. Did you know that 20% to 50% of outdoor residential lighting goes directly into the sky and contributes to light pollution due to poor shielding? Lighting should be directed to the ground using shields or fixtures that do not point up to the sky. The illustration below shows which lighting fixtures are best.

According to the Mattapoissett Town Administrator's office, we do not have any light pollution regulations in the town. LED lights were installed in town several years ago and are positioned to focus downward or have a shade to focus the light downward if there have been complaints. I am not aware of the Kelvin rating. Drive around town and notice what you see.

Learn more by exploring DarkSky International's website. They have a significant amount of information on their site and sponsor events including a 24 hour Zoom event "Under One Sky" beginning 3:00 pm November 8 to November 9. They also maintain a searchable database of lighting products and retailers. I am still learning about the dark sky and have a lot more to learn. I am making the move to change my fixtures and keeping my outdoor lights off at night.

Board of Selectmen Postpone
 Special Town Meeting
Rochester Board of Selectmen
by Michael J. DeCicco

Rochester's Board of Selectmen on Monday approved postponing the Special Town Meeting originally scheduled for January 6 to January 27.

Town Administrator Cameron Durant said the change to the later date was an easy decision for the board to make after noting the articles for the meeting need more preparation time. He said the public needs the proper notification period before the Planning Board holds its public hearings on the proposed warrant articles, and the Bylaw Review Committee requires more time to craft its own proposals.

The final approval vote included the motion that the special town meeting also be extended to January 28 if the meeting needs more time to vote on its articles or if there is an inclement weather delay.

The board then approved referring the articles proposed for the meeting to the Planning Board for public hearings. One such article revises the town's battery energy storage system regulations. Durant said this bylaw was approved at a previous town meeting, but the town needs to tweak its language, adding protection of water resource areas.

Another article revised was the Solar Screening bylaw. "It will create standards for blocking the view of solar arrays from residential and natural resource areas," Durant said.

The articles being proposed by the Bylaw Review Committee that the board referred to the Planning Board Monday regard new regulations for accessory dwelling units and short-term rentals and tweaking the regulations for use variances. Durant said the state has passed a law allowing accessory dwelling units (ADUs) on residential properties by right. "We need to get ahead of this issue," he said. The new town-imposed regulations and restrictions, he said, would limit the number of ADU units in town. Registration and review by the Building Commissioner will be required, "creating revenue opportunities for the town," he said. Abutters will also have to be notified when such a rental plan is being proposed.

In other action, the board signed a $23,736.57 change order for the Cranberry Highway Overlay District Infrastructure Improvements project, for the construction of curbing and sidewalk along the district.

In response to the fact plans are in the works to replace it with a totally-new playground, the board declared the current Gifford Park playground equipment as surplus so it can be torn down and auctioned off. Acting Chairman Adam Murphy and fellow Selectman Paul Ciaburri agreed that the Highway Department shall dismantle the old equipment and store the pieces in the Highway Barn. Then, the pieces will be auctioned through a sealed bid process, to begin on November 18 and extend to December 2 when the bids will be opened.

The board accepted SEMASS donation fund requests, specifically $800 for Snipatuit water monitoring equipment and $8,000 for town hall monument brick work. Durant noted Town Planner Nancy Durfee has been using SRPEDD-loaned equipment for water monitoring and the agency now wants that equipment back.

Durant reported that meeting packets and agendas will now be available the day of said meeting on the town website. He also noted there is now a Photo Contest on the website urging residents to send in photos for it.

The select board did not set a new meeting date before adjourning to hold an executive session.

night were critical to ongoing road work and associated storm water drainage upgrades.

Coming before the board to defend and explain the requested hearings for the removal of four trees, three Norway maples and one green ash, was Ken Motta of Field Engineering, representing the town's Highway Department. Motta discussed the lengths taken to try and minimize the number of trees removed so that the Highway Department could open the roadway at the intersection of Pearl and Church Street. He said that drainage designs were complete and that the roadway itself needed to be a 40-foot layout.

Regarding the trees in question, Motta said one or more were diseased and needed culling, while others may suffer root damage during construction. Removal of the four was deemed "unavoidable." Motta also pointed to ADA requirements that constrained other designs.

Sandy Hering, chairman of the Tree Committee, said, "I question a 24-foot road. It doesn't allow for trees..." and she wanted to discuss the possibility of wider curb strips for tree planting. Chairman Tom Tucker truncated the discussion saying he wanted to return to the agenda and vote on the hearings after which he was willing to return to the more general discussion of roadway designs and trees.

Town Planner Victoria Alfaro said that a public hearing will be held for public input regarding ADA compliant sidewalks; date to be announced.

The board voted to remove the trees with roadway construction planned for Spring 2025.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Planning Board is scheduled for November 18 at 7:00 pm.

Gifford Park Contract Signed

Rochester Parks Commission

by Michael J. DeCicco

In a room full of residents unhappy with aspects of the plan, Rochester's Park Commission on October 30 approved an additional donation and an additional piece of equipment for the new Gifford Park playground and signed the contract to initiate the work.

Commission Chair David Hughes began the meeting by announcing the local non-profit "Tri-Town for Protecting Children" that donated the initial $45,000 to fund the playground has chipped in another $7,000. With that money, a 'spring net climber,' that will be ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) compliant, will be purchased and installed. The board also noted that soft rubber pathways will make every other piece of equipment ADA-compliant and accessible. "The whole design is ADA-accessible," design consultant Cindy Marks said. "It is over ADA guidelines."

Despite these assurances, attendees crowding the town hall meeting room were quick to pelt the commissioners with questions emphasizing their concern that this playground could be better designed if the town started with a master plan for the park.

Commission chair David Hughes argued this plan to rehabilitate the playground is long overdue and the board can add more equipment with future donations. "We've wanted to do this for a long time," he said. "We've been held back by funding. We are doing the best we can with what we have." The 3,649 square-foot playground's full cost will be $81,724.68. While half of that cost is being borne by the local non-profit "Tri-Town for Protecting Children," the other half is being paid for with the town's ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) funds.

Karen Audette, whose home abuts Gifford Park, asked the first question, "Is there room to expand the park?" She noted she takes her grandchildren to other playgrounds outside of Rochester.

Hughes said there is room for expansion and the board would consider any proposal if there were funding or donations for it.

Audette said she would love to be part of a committee to make such plans. Hughes said a Friends of the Parks-type group would be welcomed.

Others in the crowd voiced concerns that one group, "Tri-Town For Protecting Children," was dictating what should be in the playground and the money could be better spent creating a master plan for the park and the playground. Hughes argued back that ARPA funds have to spent by the end of the year. That's one reason this must be the plan now.

“We’re digging holes before we have a plan,” Nathaniel Reece, a candidate for Park Commission in last year’s election, complained.

“In due time,” Hughes answered. “You should put your efforts into helping with this playground. We’ve got to start somewhere.”

Reece noted he sent a multi-point email to the commission regarding his concerns of hiring a designer for a layout of Gifford Park. He would like to see a design created for current and future projects including parking layout, traffic flow, playground location, and a reserved area for a public bathroom building.

“This site plan design would help prevent us from redoing work at a later date,” Reece said in that email. “For example, if a new playground spot isn’t ideal, and it gets relocated some years from now to accommodate traffic flow design; that would be an additional cost we could prevent.” In the meeting, Hughes responded, “I don’t do emails. Call me on the telephone.”

Resident Mary McCann noted the example of the new Marion bike path, remarking that the path never had a solid design plan. That started as a great idea has become ‘dangerous and treacherous’ in the actual form it’s taken. Hughes responded that the Gifford Playground already has been designed and engineered by a professional firm.

Resident Meredith Russo asked if the town could purchase the equipment by the end of year but then take time to design a master plan before construction begins. Town administrator Cameron Durant said the town will have one year to execute the contract with the installation company now that that contract has been signed. Durant said he would have to do more research to know the details of that type of agreement.

In related action, the commission approve notifying the select board that it is declaring the old

The board approved the Certificates of Compliance to the order of conditions: For the Double M Cranberry Co. Inc. bog project on County Road. For the 62 Nathaniels Drive project to build an in-ground swimming pool, patio, cabana, and fencing within the 100-foot buffer zone of wetlands. For the construction of a single-family home with garage, onsite well, and septic system at 158 Snipatuit Road. For the project to remove fill within the wetlands resource area and 25-foot No Disturb Zone at 127 Mary's Pond Road. For the construction of a firearm training facility on County Road with associated site work included filing and replicating a wetlands area. For work associated with confirming a 6,66-foot wetlands boundary at 75 Vaughan Hill Road.

Then came the commission's public hearing review of an Abbreviated Notice of Resource Area delineation for a project to confirm a wetlands resource area on 183 acres at 0 Snipatuit Road, proposed by ReWild Renewables. The commission approved the project's Order of Resource Area delineation of its wetland borders after Conservation Agent Merilee Kelly's reported observing, "a good delineation. Lots of trails, some wide enough for roads. It took two and a half weeks to find all the flags."

Next, with a roomful of abutters looking on to raise concerns about how the project will affect flooding, natural resources, and wildlife in their neighborhood, the board began its review of the separate Notices of Intent to build six single-family dwellings with attached garages, driveways, and associated clearing, grading and utilities installation on two-acre lots at 0 High Street.

The hearings on four of the lots were continued to the commission's next meeting on November 19 due to consultant Brian Wallace's report that these lots are within the jurisdiction of state Natural Heritage Foundation protections. He asserted he needs to hear the agency's response to how those lots should be handled.

A fifth lot received approval of its Order of Conditions with standard conditions after Wallace acknowledged this lot was close to three wetland resource areas: a cranberry bog and its buffer zone, vegetated wetlands, and a riverfront. Wallace emphasized, however, that the developer is trying to keep the bog off all of the house lot plans. That is why some lot configurations are different. But the developer will allow the bog owner easement and access to the bogs, he added.

Discussion of the sixth lot led to a decision to continue its hearing to November 19 and schedule a site visit on November 17 at 7:00 am. Abutter Jeremy Saccone sparked this move after noting his property near County Road frequently floods because of the bog and will flood even more when a house lot is built near him. "I'm going to have more of a flood," Saccone said. "There will be nowhere else for that water to go."

The commissioners concluded that they need to see the problem for themselves and recommended that Saccone join them at the site visit.

The next Conservation Commission meeting will be November 19 at 7:00 pm, at Town Hall, 1 Constitution Way.

Berry Talk

Local South Coast cranberry growers are one of the largest producers of cranberries in the US. Supporting the local industry and growers is the UMass Cranberry Research Station, One Bog Way, in East Wareham.

At the Sippican Woman’s Club’s monthly meeting on Friday, November 8, at 12:30 pm, we will hear from two Assistant Professors – Dr. Giverson Mupambi and Dr. Leela Saisree Uppala from the Cranberry Research Station. By the end of October, local growers have dry and wet picked 95% of their berry crops. We all look forward to seeing those berries on our tables this Thanksgiving.

The club is famous for its Annual Holiday House Tour (HHT) which will be held on Saturday, December 7. With all-hands-on-deck, members create a much-anticipated tour of elegant, unique and famous homes and includes a delightful sugar plum tea. Marion Creek Road Water Main Project

The Marion Department of Public Works, through the Contractor Primetime Development Inc., will begin construction of the Creek Road Water Main project on Monday, November 4, 2024. The duration of construction (including installation of temporary pavement) is approximately two weeks. Installation of permanent pavement will occur in the spring of 2025. The extent of the project spans the entire length of Creek Road.

Although limited public access to the roadway will be maintained, motorists can expect delays while traveling through the construction area and should seek alternate routes. Every effort will be made to minimize inconvenience to motorists.

Please note that in addition to limited access to Creek Road, the Creek Road bike path will be closed to the public starting Monday, November 4, 2024, and will reopen at the completion of construction next year. Please be advised that public access to the construction area, materials, and equipment is prohibited.

Advanced notice of planned water main and water service shutdowns will be provided to residents/businesses in the area. However, unannounced disruptions in water service due to the construction activities may occur. Therefore, it is not uncommon to experience low water pressure or discolored water during construction. If you experience discolored water, please run the cold water tap until it clears. The Water Department will make its best effort to restore water service as soon as possible.

Your patience and cooperation are greatly appreciated. Please contact the Department of Public Works should you have any questions: 508-748-3540.

Lions International Peace Poster Contest

Marion Sivil, a 6th grade student at Old Hammondtown School, has taken the first step to becoming an internationally recognized artist by winning a local competition sponsored by the Mattapoissett Lions Club. Marion's poster is among more than 450,000 entries submitted worldwide in the annual Lions International Peace Poster Contest. Lions International is sponsoring the program to emphasize the importance of world peace to young people everywhere.

The poster was selected by Lions Club member Helene Rose and school staff members for its originality, artistic merit, and portrayal of the contest theme, "Peace Without Limits." Mattapoissett Lions Club President Rob Haley said he was impressed by the expression and creativity of the students at Old Hammondtown School. "It is obvious that these young people have strong ideas about what compassion means to them. I'm so proud that we were able to provide them with the opportunity to share their visions. Marion's poster will advance through the district, multiple district, and international levels of competition if she is to be declared the international grand prize winner," Haley said.

One international grand prize winner and 23 merit award winners will be selected. The grand prize includes a cash award of $5,000, plus a trip for the winner and two family members to a special award ceremony. The 23 merit award winners will each receive a certificate and a cash award of $500. "Our club is cheering for Marion as her poster advances in the competition, and we hope that her vision will ultimately be shared with others around the world," Haley said.

Marion and numerous other students were honored for their participation by the Mattapoissett Lions Club on Friday, November 1 at Old Hammondtown School. Marion was awarded a $100 gift card. Second place recipient Will Kanaly was awarded a $50 gift card, and third place was awarded to Yonathan Coffey who received a $25 gift card. Honorable Mention was awarded to Jillian Bonnell who received a $15 gift card.

Surveys are conducted every three years to better understand the needs of older adults and to develop plans to meet those needs. Every voice counts. If you are an older adult in this age group, please share your concerns in this approximately 10-minute survey.

Survey results are also used to develop an Area Plan on Aging. The purpose of this document is to ensure that Coastline is able to develop approaches that may help to alleviate the concerns identified in the needs data.

The latest survey, conducted in 2021 as the pandemic isolated many people, identified digital skills as its top need including assistance using email, the internet, apps, and digital technology. Other highly ranked needs included programs to help people stay active and well, and funding assistance for home repairs.

This is an appeal to the community on behalf of our students. My name is Sheilah Sullivan. I've lived in Marion for over 30 years, raised my two kids here, and had the remarkable privilege of teaching at Old Rochester Regional High School for 25 years.

Teachers, counselors, and school staff often have a unique perspective into the lives of our young people. It's not uncommon for us to develop insights into the unmet needs outside of the school day that impact our students' abilities to thrive inside the school building.

In 2010, my family and I established William's Fund, Inc. We are a small 501(c)(3) non-profit established for the sole purpose of providing emergency financial assistance for students and families at ORRHHS and ORRJHS. Confidential referrals for assistance are made by the school social workers. The district does not benefit financially in any way.

William's Fund provides assistance for things like: oil deliveries and utility bills, gift cards for groceries and clothing, bedding and supplies for emergency camping or short-term housing, and other hardships that arise unexpectedly and impact a student's well-being.

Last year alone, we distributed almost $30,000 in emergency assistance.

To-date, we've been able to rely on word of mouth for support from individual community members like you. But at this time, our fund is nearly depleted, and we are turning to the wider community for help.

Will you consider making a tax-deductible donation to help our students have the resources they need to thrive in school? A letter with necessary information for tax-deductible donations is provided. We are 100% volunteer-run. That means 100% of your donation goes directly to students and their families.

Rochester Historical Society

By Connie Eshbach

I've referenced Abraham Holmes many times due to the valuable memoirs that he left to us. However, I realized as I prepared for the SAR event on October 26, I had never really thought much about his participation in the events up to and during the Revolutionary War.

According to Mary Hall Leonard's book on Rochester's history, Abraham not only took part in the march of young men from Rochester to Barnstable in 1774, but it was his zeal for liberty that "did much to arouse the revolutionary spirit of Rochester."

It was he who was sent to discover the results of April 19, 1775, and he wrote that he returned, "as gay as a lark" at the great news that "the struggle for independence had begun."

In 1775, Holmes wanted to enlist, but his parents were extremely opposed to his accepting a small office in the army. In 1778, he did enter the army for three months as a recruit. He was soon appointed as the Company's only "sergeant." His company was sent to Roxbury until their service time expired on July 2.

The following September, there was an incursion into New Bedford and Fairhaven by the British forces.

Holmes, again in the army, was there on the night of September 8 when, in his words, a "brush" occurred. According to his memoirs, "a cannon ball struck the ground about six inches from his foot." Later, in the same year, he was chosen to be the lieutenant of the company.

However, an unexplained misunderstanding (we'll never know what it was) took place in the regiment and none of the militia officers from Rochester would accept their commissions. After this, he returned home to a different kind of service as a selectman for the town of Rochester from 1782-1792.

We welcome and encourage multiple entries each month. This is a special way to celebrate our beautiful steeple, as a Beacon of Light in Mattapoisett, and to financially support our church. OBITUARIES

Richard S. Spooner, 84, of Rochester, MA, passed away peacefully in his sleep at home on October 5, 2024, due to heart complications.

Born in December 1939 in New Bedford, he was the son of the late Lewis G. and Mary M. (Spencer) Spooner. He was predeceased by three siblings: Gerald Spooner, Donald Spooner, and Flora Duffy.

Richard is survived by his daughter, Richlie Zuniga and her husband William, along with his nephew Robert Duffy and wife Noreen, and nieces: Margaret Duffy, Mary Wynne and her husband Tom. He was a proud grandfather to three wonderful grandchildren—Caitlyn, Paul, and Bella—who gifted him with five great-grandchildren. He was also an uncle to several great-great-nieces and nephews. Richard's fridge was a vibrant display of their photos and drawings, bringing him joy every day.

Known by many names—Pal, Tex, Rich, Rick, Moon, Mooner, and Spooner. He proudly served in the U.S. Air Force from 1957 to 1961. Following his military service, Richard worked for a variety of companies, including Revere, Morse Twist Drill, Canal Electric, and as a mason laborer and bartender.

In younger years, Richard enjoyed golfing, running, swimming, and a passion for cars. He was always impeccably dressed, often sporting boots and patriotic attire, whether it was a belt, suspenders, or a classic bandana around his neck. His love for family was evident throughout his life, as he grew up surrounded by them. He spent time living with his parents and even lived with his older sister on the Cape for a couple of years. Ultimately, he returned home to Braley Hill Road, where he resided until his passing.

In his later years, Richard maintained a steadfast routine. If his flag was out, it meant he was home; each evening, it was safely stored away, and every morning it was proudly displayed.

A dedicated member of the New Bedford YMCA for over 50 years, Richard frequented the gym almost daily. He enjoyed exploring New Bedford, Fall River, and Fairhaven with friends, always on the lookout for good food, local watering holes, and Keno. An avid blood donor, he quietly contributed to his community in many meaningful ways.

Richard loved to reminisce about the “good old days,” when traffic was light and the land was filled with pine groves. He cherished memories of family gatherings, turkey farms, old neighbors, and the simpler times of his youth.

Our beloved Richard was adored by many, he left an indelible mark on our hearts. His unwavering dedication to family and friends was truly remarkable, and he will be forever loved.

In keeping with Richard's quiet and private nature, a small celebration of his life will be held during the warm summer months. While he would have preferred a modest obituary, a man with such a rich life and boundless love cannot be easily summarized. He was a keeper of countless memories and will be deeply missed.

Please feel free to make a toast to the man who was a friend of many and cherish the moments, laughter, and love he shared.

As Richard's second home was the New Bedford YMCA, we invite you to designate a donation in his name to honor his legacy.

Joseph D. Alves, 82, of Mattapoisett passed away peacefully after a period of declining health on Saturday, November 2, 2024.

Born in Ohio, son of the late John D. and Maria (DeLuz) Alves, he lived in Mattapoisett all of his life.

Joe enjoyed golfing at Little Marion and watching golf on TV. He loved his annual trips to Foxwoods with his family. Joe worked at Cameo Curtains in New Bedford for many years before working as a janitor at ORR.

Survivors include his brother, Daniel Alves and his significant other Linda Kelly; his aunt Dominga Pina; his cousins Beverly Alexander, Dianne Luz, Mary Lisbon, Barbara Lisbon and John Lisbon; his sister-in-law Maria Alves and many nieces and nephews.

He is predeceased by his brother, Robert Alves; his aunts Jenny Alves, and Elizabeth Lisbon; and his cousins James Pina, William Pina, Manuel Luz and Patricia Pina.

His Funeral will be held on Friday, November 8th at 9 am from the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Rd. (Rt. 6), Mattapoisett., followed by his Funeral Mass at St. Anthony's Church at 10 am. Burial will follow in St. Anthony's Cemetery. Visiting hours will be on Thursday from 5-8 pm. For directions and guestbook, visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

If you have a notice you would like to have included in the Obituaries section, please contact our office at: 508 758-9055, or by email at office@wanderer.com.

NBSO Presents Bridging Oceans

On Saturday, November 16, the New Bedford Symphony Orchestra presents “Bridging Oceans” in the Bronspiegel Auditorium at New Bedford High School. Music Director Yaniv Dinur and the orchestra welcome bandoneon player Hector Del Curto as the guest soloist.

The program for the evening will pair the music of German composer Johann Sebastian Bach and Argentinian composer Astor Piazzolla. Bach’s music often uses forms developed from dances and Piazzolla caused quite a stir when he merged his love of the tango with his love of classical music. At an early age, Piazzolla discovered the music of Bach and couldn’t stop playing it on the piano. He then became a virtuoso bandoneon player (an Argentinian accordion-like instrument that was invented in Germany) and learned to play Bach on that. Even when he formed his own tango band and played in the clubs of Buenos Aires, he infused his music with both jazz and Bach-inspired fugues.

This concert will transport you back and forth between two worlds of music. Worlds that are in some ways very different from each other but in the most important ways very connected to each other.

“Bridging Oceans” is sponsored by Bristol County

MOVIE REVIEW

The Mask

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

A Different Man.* Starring Sebastian Stan and Adam Pearson. Directed by Aaron Schimberg. Running time: 112 minutes. MPAA rating: R. Now playing in theaters.

It's good to see Adam Pearson again. Pearson, who lives with neurofibromatosis, has a face with elongated, softened features that convey kindness. He was last seen (in film) in 2019's Chained for Life, directed by Aaron Schimberg, who has now supervised Pearson again in the new A Different Man. Here, Pearson plays a character I imagine is closer to his real personality: outgoing, affable, living positively. In A Different Man he plays Oswald, who invested well, doesn't work, and finds himself drifting towards a play about a man with his condition. At first Oswald is only interested in seeing the play, but soon he is cast in it.

A Different Man isn't primarily about Oswald, though. It's about Edward (Sebastian Stan), who also has neurofibromatosis and is an aspiring actor; when we meet him, he's appearing along with other disfigured actors in a corporate video for "normies" about how to interact with disfigured co-workers. A young playwright, Ingrid (Renate Reinsve), moves into the apartment next to Edward's. He is not nearly as easygoing as Oswald; he's nervous, seemingly braced for mockery or worse all the time. Edward has a cowed, slumping walk, whereas Oswald moves through the world robustly, with confidence, his antennae up for anything.

For about the first forty minutes, Sebastian Stan is cloaked behind latex to suggest Edward's disability. But then his doctor passes along word of an experimental treatment that could lessen or even eliminate Edward's facial deformity. He submits to the treatment, and before long the excess flesh on his face peels off little by little. (I think we're meant to handwave the scientific plausibility of this aspect of the film. It's a premise to get the film where it wants to be thematically.) Now looking more or less like Sebastian Stan, Edward reinvents himself as "Guy," a real-estate agent, and tells people "Edward" killed himself. Meanwhile, Ingrid has written a play called Edward about Edward's struggles.

Guy/Edward, of course, wants the role of Edward; it is, after all, him. But he needs a mask to play the part, and there's amusingly tangled irony in the notion of "Guy" doing disability appropriation to play a character based on a man he once was — a different man. In some aspects, the title itself is ironic, since in some aspects Guy is still Edward. He still moves in a slump, cringing from possible blows. Being "cured" has made his life easier in that he's getting more sex and has a comfy job, but he doesn't seem much happier. When Oswald finds his way towards and then into the play, Edward's jealousy of him has several intriguing layers.

Aaron Schimberg himself has a facial deformity, and he has now made two comedy-dramas with Adam Paulson as his De Niro, movies that meditate on disability and its representation and/or portrayal (the two don't always go together) in media. (Paulson also played an actor in Schimberg's Chained for Life.) In this film Schimberg gets to comment on the disabled as depressed, frightened types (Edward) as well as types like Oswald, who looks similar to Edward's former face but couldn't be less like him as a person. What makes them so different in how they behave in the world? Life experiences, maybe, or brain chemicals. One is wired to hide (though also has a drive to perform), one gets out among the people and grabs all the life he can.

A Different Man starts almost like a David Cronenberg film, with views of a scan of Edward's skull, and some of the film plays like what he might have done with the premise — not a put-down, since Schimberg doesn't really "do" Cronenberg so much as engage with the story with a Cronenberg-esque thoughtfulness. Sebastian Stan delivers a dense, not always "likable" turn as a man who loses an exterior burden but keeps his inner burdens, maybe because he doesn't know how to live without them. Renate Reinsve is softly alluring as the playwright. And then there's Adam Paulson, bopping into the picture after over an hour and amiably tucking it whole into his shirt pocket. I hope I don't have to wait five more years for another Schimberg film to see him again.

Savings Bank and will take place on Saturday, November 16, 7:30 pm in the Bronspiegel Auditorium, New Bedford High School, 230 Hathaway Boulevard, New Bedford. From 6:30 pm to 7:00 pm, conductor Yaniv Dinur will hold his pre-concert talk in the auditorium with guest soloist Hector Del Curto.

Tickets are $20, $40, and $65, with $10 student tickets (available at the box office only with student ID). Purchase tickets through the Z box office, 508-994-2900, or online at nbsymphony.org. Convenient and free parking is available in the lots near the entrance to the auditorium.

All are welcome to the free open rehearsal in the auditorium on Friday, November 15, 4:00 pm to 6:30 PM. Seating is general admission, and no tickets or RSVP are required. Please note that this is a working rehearsal, and pieces may not be played in their entirety. A 20-minute break usually occurs between 5:00 pm and 5:30 pm. Come and go as you please.

ORRJHS to Host Senior Citizen Thanksgiving Banquet

Superintendent Michael S. Nelson and Old Rochester Regional Junior High School (ORRJHS) Principal Silas Coellner are pleased to announce that ORRJHS will be hosting the 31st Annual ORRJHS Senior Citizen Thanksgiving Banquet.

The banquet is for Tri-Town (Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester) senior citizens and will take place on Sunday, November 24 in the ORRJHS Cafeteria at 133 Marion Road, Mattapoisett.

Doors will open at 11:15 am, and the banquet will begin at 12:00 pm noon.

300 tickets, with 100 seats per town, will be available and distributed through each local Council on Aging. ORRJHS students and staff volunteers will help facilitate the event and serve guests.

"This cherished event is not only a great opportunity for our students to volunteer their time but is also a way for them to practice making meaningful impacts on the community," said Superintendent

Nelson. "In the spirit of the holiday, I'm thankful for our continuation of this decades-long tradition of giving back to Tri-Town residents."

Last year, the event was held for the first time after a three-year hiatus. More than 170 seniors from the Tri-Town area attended, and more than 60 seventh-grade and eighth-grade student volunteers served a full Thanksgiving meal to attendees. More than 50 door prizes were available, including holiday gift sets, small home items, and gift cards.

"The Thanksgiving Banquet is an event I always look forward to, and it is so rewarding to witness our students' and their families' willingness to support our community," said Principal Coellner. "With the approaching holiday season, these connections become even more priceless."

Any individual or local business interested in making cash contributions or donating door prizes can call ORRJHS at 508-758-4928 and speak with Toni Bailey, Administrative Assistant to Principal Silas Coellner.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A once-harmonious relationship appears to be hitting some sour notes. Spend some time together to see why things have gone off-key. What you learn might surprise you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You feel a need to make some changes. Good! You can do it on a small scale (some new clothes, for example) or go big and redecorate your home and/or office.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Control your tendency toward early boredom. A situation in your life might be taking a long time to develop, but patience pays off. Stay with it.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You might feel like you're on an emotional roller coaster this week. Don't fret; just ride it out and let things settle down. A Pisces shows understanding.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Do something different for once: Compromise. A stubborn stand on an important issue proves counterproductive. You need to be open to new ideas.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A friend offers advice that you perceive as an act of betrayal. But before you turn against the messenger, pay attention to the message itself.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A year of riding an emotional pogo stick finally settles down. Use this calmer period to restore frayed relationships and pursue new opportunities.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your words can sting, so be careful how you respond to a friend's actions. A calm approach could produce some surprising facts.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Be careful about whose secrets you're being asked to keep. They could impose an unfair burden on a straight arrow like yourself.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) While you prefer taking the tried-and-true course in life, be adventurous this week and accept a challenge that can open up new vistas for you.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Your strong sense of justice helps you deal with a job-related situation. Stay with your principles. A Sagittarius emerges as a supporter.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You need to build a stronger on-the-job support system to persuade doubting colleagues that your innovative proposals are workable.

BORN THIS WEEK: You might not say much, but you're capable of extraordinary achievements. You are a loyal friend and a devoted person to your family.

collaboration with the U.S. Postal Service has reopened COVIDtests.gov, so that households across the country can order four additional over-the-counter COVID-19 tests for free. These tests are intended for use throughout the 2024 holiday season to detect currently circulating COVID-19 variants. Clear instructions are included on how to verify extended expiration dates.

These efforts complement ASPR's ongoing distribution of free COVID-19 tests to long-term care facilities, low-income senior housing, uninsured individuals, and underserved communities. Through this community organization distribution program and the home-ordering program, ASPR has provided a combined total of more than 1.9 billion COVID-19 over-the-counter tests.

As the fall and holiday seasons will create increased close proximity gatherings of people, the Administration remains committed to helping Americans access tests to help so that, if they develop a respiratory illness, they can learn whether it is due to COVID-19 and then make the best choices about seeking medical care and reducing risks to family, friends, and co-workers. To order four free, over-the-counter COVID-19 tests, visit COVIDtests.gov.

The Marion Board of Health has a limited number of COVID-19 tests available for pick up at their office. Please call 508-748-3530 for more information.

Sunday, June 8, 2:00pm: Once again, the band will be under the Grand Tent at Tabor Academy for the Annual Pops Concert to benefit the John R. Pandolfi Music Scholarship Fund. This year's concert will be all about animation as we shine the spotlight on the music from such "drawn" classics as Fantasia, The Prince of Egypt, Beauty and the Beast, and The Incredibles, to name a few. The band will also collaborate with the South Coast Children's Chorus to add their abundant talents to our homage to the program entitled "An Animated Afternoon."

The 2024-2025 concert season, the Tri-County Symphonic Band's sixty-third, is testament to the organization's commitment to bring quality live music to the community. For more information, visit: tricountysymphonicband.org.

Drum Circle Class

Drum Circle class is held once a month at the Mattapoissett COA. Did you know that drumming increases dopamine and serotonin levels, which help to help elevate our mood? In addition, it can help reduce stress, among other benefits. Check it out once, and you won't want to miss a beat. The instructor is Sam Holmstock, who earned a B.A. Music Degree from Berklee College of Music. He has performed worldwide with the band Entrain. Upcoming sessions, starting at 1:00 p.m.: November 20, and December 18. Register for one or more by calling 508-758-4110 or email to coadirector@mattapoissett.net.

The ORR Class of 1985 40th Class Reunion is scheduled for Saturday, August 2, 2025.

Our reunion committee is working on location details and is excited to get our class together. We are looking at venues in Mattapoissett, New Bedford, and Fairhaven.

We are trying very hard to keep the cost as low as possible - potential price between $30-$75 per person. We will let you know the details via email as soon as we lock in a venue.

We would like to get an idea on the number of classmates and spouses/significant others who plan on attending. Please respond if you are interested in attending the reunion to Lisa Gayoski Garabedian at lisagarabedian122@gmail.com.

Thank you! We hope to see you all there.

This is the perfect time to think about and prepare for emergencies and disasters as Massachusetts faces a variety of hazards – weather-related or otherwise throughout the year.

If you feel that you would require assistance in an emergency, we would like to have a discussion with you so we can prepare a plan that will be ready to go when needed. If you rely on medical equipment at your residence that requires electricity. If you would require transportation to a shelter when such a need arises or live in a known flood zone. If you have a communication-related disability, we need to know the best way to communicate in an emergency state. If you take medications, we need a list.
